HELM GETS STAY

Electrocution of Louisville Man Deferred Sixty Days

Eddyville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Logan Helm will not be electrocuted October 3. He has been granted sixty days' reprieve. He was convicted in Louisville for the murder of a negro woman.

DAY OF PRAYER

Next Sunday is the day set apart by special proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson asking that the Christian people of the United States and its territories engage in a united prayer that peace shall come to the nations of the earth who are now warring the one with the other. The supposition is that all the churches and other religious societies will observe the day in a fitting manner. At least 25,000,000 American citizens should send up petitions to the Most High asking that war shall soon be known no more in this world.

DRYS MAY CONTEST DAVIESS ELECTION

Prohibitionists Investigating List of Voters Who Took Part.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 30.—It became known on Saturday that the "dry" are considering contesting the recent local option election that was held in Daviess county, and which went "wet" by a large majority. This fact became known on Saturday when Frank Brown and R. N. Elliott, representing the "dry" committee, went to the county clerk's office with two stenographers and began copying the names in the stub book of all those who participated in the recent election. After they have secured a complete list of the voters, they will investigate them and then probably reach a conclusion as to whether or not a contest will be filed. The action was ordered by the dry committee.

DIRECTORS MEETING.

A meeting of the Directors of the St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, will be held at the offices of the Company in Earlington, Ky., on Wednesday, October 14th, 1914.

Texas Commits Suicide After Shooting His Relatives

Franklin, Ky., Sept. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Granville Babb were shot to death this morning at their home at Orinda, and Melvin Babb, 21, their son, was fired upon by James Fisher, of Amarillo, Texas, a nephew of Mr. Babb. Fisher then turned the gun on himself, ending his life.

Fisher was visiting near Orinda, and, it is said, drove to the Babb's farm last night, concealing himself in the stable. When Mr. Babb went to the barn to feed his stock this morning he was shot and instantly killed. Mrs. Babb, hearing the firing ran to call assistance. She was shot, dying almost instantly. Melvin Babb rushed to the house but two shots fired at him went wild. Fisher then shot himself.

It is said that ill feeling, growing out of the settlement of an estate several years ago, led to the shooting.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING ON STREETS LAST NIGHT

Mary Jane Murphy an Old Citizen, of This City Talks to Large Audience

Mary Jane Murphy who lived in Earlington several years ago and is now Supt. of the Gospel Mission and Helping Hand Home of East St. Louis made an interesting talk to her old neighbors and friends on main street in front of the Campaign Store last night. Her subject was "Why I Became a Protestant." There were at least 500 people who heard the lecture. Mrs. Murphy was formerly Mary Jane Lawrence of this place and is well known to every citizen here, several years ago she moved with her father to East St. Louis where she soon established the "Gospel Mission and Helping Hand Home" which is a place where any honest woman or girl whom is out of work or sick may find a place to stay free of charge and where room, board and medical aid are furnished. She has with her in Earlington, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett who do the singing and assist her in other ways. Mrs. Murphy has splendid letters of recommendation from the Mayor and Ministerial Alliance of East St. Louis and is evidently doing a great work along her line.

ANNOUNCES FOR COURT APPEALS

Hon. J. F. Gordon, of Madisonville, Makes Formal Announcement in This Issue

IS WELL QUALIFIED

Circuit Judge in This District For Several Years, Able Lawyer and Splendid Gentleman

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Hon. J. F. Gordon, who seeks the nomination for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals for the First appellate district of Kentucky, at the hands of the Democratic party, the primary election to be held next August. In making this announcement for Judge Gordon for the high position which he seeks, we feel that without doing violence to our conscience that we can most heartily and cheerfully recommend the man and urge his claims.

Judge Gordon was born in Hopkins county 47 years ago and has made his home all these years among the people whom he first knew and who during this time have known and honored him. He was admitted to the practice of law 20 years ago and as such has made an enviable reputation.

Judge Gordon has practiced in the various courts of the state and was appointed by Governor Beckham to fill out an unexpired term of Judge of the Fourth judicial district, and at the end of the term was elected to continue in the same position, which office he still fills to the credit of both himself and the public. He has been twice nominated by his party, without opposition, to fill the office of circuit judge.

The fourth judicial district of the state, almost from the earliest recollection of our oldest citizenship, has been presided over by able judges, every one of them, and none more able or better qualified than Judge Gordon. His record has been one that is without blot or stain. Should he be successful in obtaining the nomination and election to the court of appeals, the last court of resort in the state, there is no doubt that he would measure up most fully to the high standard of qualification that has characterized that important court.

So far as we are able to conceive Judge Gordon is not lacking in any single element of qualification or preparedness that would in the least interfere with his ability to serve the people of the state in such a way as to reflect credit both upon himself and the profession of which he is an honorable and worthy member.

As a citizen Judge Gordon is all and everything that a good citizen should be. He is honest, sober, upright, industrious, a man of the people, an upright judge who does his duty in seeing that equal justice is done regardless of whom the litigants may be. He has served in the courts in such a way as to command the approval of all who love right and justice. As a judge of the court of appeals of a great state he would add new luster to that important body of learned just men.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Grapevine Christian Church Exercises Splendid Revival

Howard J. Brazelton closed, on Thursday night, one of the most successful meetings held recently at the Grapevine Christian Church. There were seventeen additions to the church, and much good was accomplished in the community. Large crowds attended each night many, going from Earlington, Madisonville and other parts of the county. Several times during the meeting the seating capacity of the building was taxed, some not gaining admittance.

This church is one of the historic organizations in Hopkins County and has numbered among its membership some of our most prominent citizens. Its present membership is composed of substantial, thorough-going people who are interested in all that is good. A notable feature of the meeting was the singing under the leadership of E. C. Moore, an Elder of the congregation. For years Mr. Moore has taught a singing school in this community and had gathered together a splendid class of young people whose singing was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

This was the second meeting Mr. Brazelton has held for this church in the last two years, and it was said he has never been heard to preach stronger, and more convincing sermons than during this series. The last service was made impressive by the tender and by strong appeal made by the Evangelist to the new converts after which they were assembled at the front to receive the hand of fellowship from the entire membership while all sang "Shall we Gather at The River"

NORTONVILLE MINER CURSES NIGHT-RIDERS

Tried For Breach of The Peace and Acquitted—Before Grand Jury

Chas. Nolon, a miner employed by the Nortonville Coal Co., was tried in Judge Mills' court by a jury on Thursday on the charge of a breach of peace and was acquitted.

It appears that about two weeks ago a party of night riders visited Nolon and gave him a severe whipping. He thought he knew some of them and decided to lay a trap. He said nothing about being whipped but went around the next day as if nothing had happened, but armed. He claims that several asked him about the whipping and to all such he pressed them to know how they knew about it, as he had told no one.

It appears that he cursed them out and threatened to kill the first one he found out for sure was in the party.

N. R. Seats was one of the men who ask him about the whipping and Nolon gave him a good cursing and threatened to get him. Seats asked for a warrant for Nolon charging him with a breach of the peace and asking that he be put under peace bond.

After hearing the evidence the jury acquitted Nolon. Nolon is a married man, owns his home and had saved some money. He appeared before the grand jury and gave what information he had as to the night rider party and it would not be surprised if several indictments are returned as a result.

A Marriage of Convenience

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

Pixley was putting the finishing touches on his education at Heidelberg, Germany, when he received a letter from his mother that his father was very ill. He was about to start for home when he received a cablegram directing him to await a letter where he was.

When the missive came it was accompanied by a very long one written by a lawyer. The letter from Mrs. Pixley, after exhausting matters incident to her husband's death, said, "I hope after you have read Mr. Conkling's letter you will act as he suggests."

Mr. Conkling's letter, summarized in a few words, was that George Pixley's father had entered into a manufacturing scheme with Edward Brown. Extensive works were about being completed when Brown died and left all his property to his only child, Alice. Additional capital was needed, but the death of both the principals had so complicated affairs that no one would loan money on the enterprise. The attorney said that if Pixley would return at once and devote himself to the business in question there was a hope of saving the money already invested. Miss Brown, aged twenty, was traveling in Europe. If Pixley could unite his and her interests there would be no difficulty in the way of carrying through the manufacturing scheme.

Nothing was said about how Pixley should identify his interests with those of Miss Brown, but Pixley conceived an idea of his own. But he must first form Miss Brown's acquaintance. Her mother's letter gave her location at Munich.

One day while Miss Alice Brown was listening to the orchestra in the Hofbrau in Munich she was pointed out to Pixley, who had recently arrived. She was sitting at a table on which were refreshments with an elderly lady (her aunt) and a boy of fourteen (her cousin). At an adjoining table sat a couple of German wasp waisted army officers. They had been drinking considerably, and one of them was ogling Miss Brown and talking to his companion in German, sounding her praises loud enough for every one near by to hear. Miss Brown as soon as she became aware that she was an object of admiration on the part of a man in his cups turned her back upon him.

Pixley was a witness of all this; also that the officer continued his remarks after the young lady had turned her back on him. Pixley, who understood and spoke German, also heard him make some derisive remarks about her, indicating at the same time that he knew she was an American and did not understand German. Pixley advanced to the officers' table, tossed a card on it, then, turning to the party assaulted and raising his hat, said: "You are evidently annoyed here. Will you permit me to escort you to another table?"

The offer was accepted, and when they reached a new position Pixley was invited to remain with them. While they had seen him drop his card on the table at which the two officers sat, none of them knew that it was a challenge to fight a duel.

Americans abroad become readily acquainted, and there was an especial reason why they should do so in this case. The elderly lady asked Pixley to call upon them the next day at their hotel, and he promised to do so, but he neglected—through an oversight, they supposed—to give his name. When they parted Miss Brown gave Pixley a look which was intended to convey her thanks for the service he had rendered them.

The next evening he called and betrayed what had happened by a long, narrow patch over his left cheek, indicating that it covered a gash. Miss Brown was puzzled and inquired if he had met with an accident. In reply he handed her a little note written in German and translated it for her. It was an apology from the officer who the night before had insulted her. Something popped into Miss Brown's head.

"Have you been fighting a duel?" she asked.

"Yes."

"And this apology has been forced."

"No; it was written voluntarily and after the fracas."

"Heavens! Did you kill him?"

"Oh, no! I am a member of a Heidelberg dueling corps. He is an indifferent swordsman. I eluded injuring him by giving him an opportunity to draw a little blood. I only wished to teach him manners. I didn't even scratch him."

Miss Brown's tongue seemed paralyzed for a time; then she said in a low voice:

"And you did all this for me?"

"I would have done it for any lady, but it gave me inexpressible happiness to do it for you."

Pixley, having thus by a fortunate circumstance made a fine start in a courtship, pushed on rapidly for a few days, when he no longer found it impossible to withhold his name.

"Pixley!" repeated Miss Brown, "Why, that was the name of my father's partner."

"Was your father James Young Brown?"

"Yes."

"What a coincidence!"

Miss Brown went back home as Mrs. Pixley, but never knew that her marriage was one of convenience. It turned out a happy one, however.

A Talk to Women ON "ECONOMY"

Women are the shoppers of the family. Upon them devolves the responsibility of an economical expenditure of the household funds. They are on the alert for bargains.

But there is only one kind of bargain, and that is the bargain of merit. That is economy.

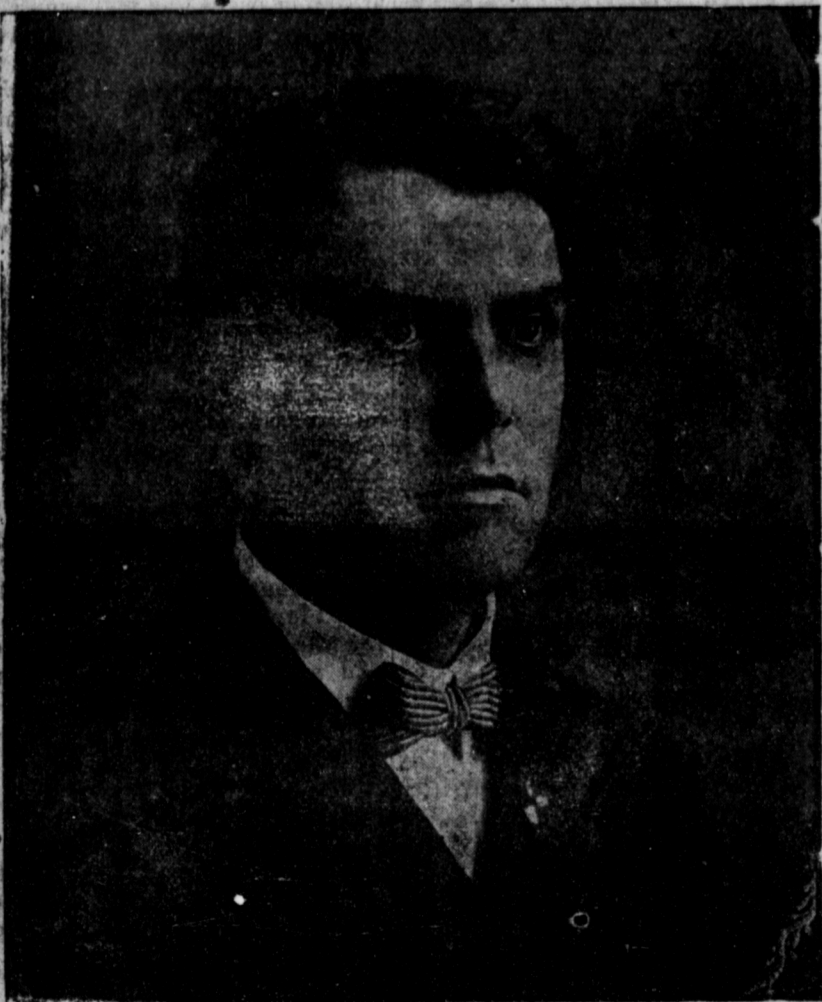

Economical buying consists not in the getting of an article at a small price, but in getting an article of quality without paying more than it is worth.

Women are careful shoppers, but even the shrewdest of the are sometimes humbugged. An article is not always a bargain because it is plastered with a placard announcing a 50 per cent reduction. Generally the price has been raised before it has been reduced, for be sure no merchant is going to sell you goods for less than they cost him, unless those goods are so worthless they are a drug on the market and without value to you. Merchants can not do that sort of thing and remain in business, for their losses would soon bankrupt them.

When you are ready for real economical buying, for getting the fullest possible values for your money and every article of genuine quality, COME TO US. We'll do the rest. It is our way of doing business--and it wins.

Hon. Lee Gibson Announces For Circuit Judge

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Hon. Lee Gibson, of Madisonville, as a candidate for Circuit Judge of his district, composed of Hopkins, Livingston, Caldwell and Crittenden counties, subject to the action of the Democratic primary of next August.

Mr. Gibson's announcement for this nomination will not come as a surprise to his many friends, but a pleasure to them. He possesses the qualification, which peculiarly fit him for this responsible position. He is one of the leading lawyers of the Madisonville bar and has been for many years. He is a courteous affable and a christian gentleman and if nominated and elected to this position would make an able, fair and impartial judge, and every litigant in his court would feel that he would be given a fair and impartial trial of his cause. That Mr. Gibson will have a large and enthusiastic following in Hopkins county there is no doubt, and he is one of the best known lawyers at the Madisonville bar, and all of his extensive acquaintances have the highest regards for him.

Mr. Gibson was reared on a farm in McLean county, three miles north of Calhoun; taught in the county schools; was admitted to the bar at Calhoun in 1890; was elected County Attorney of McLean County and his services were so acceptable and satisfactory to the people of his county he was re-elected without either Democrat or Republican opposition. He located in Madisonville in 1901, and immediately took rank as one of the leading members of the bar. Since he came to Madisonville he has practiced on one side or the other in many of the most prominent and important law suits in Hopkins, McLean and Webster Counties, and has won as many of his cases in the Court of Appeals as any other lawyer perhaps in Western Kentucky.

He served the Democrat Party in Hopkins County, both as Chairman of the Executive and Campaign Committees, and has always given liberally of his time and means for the success of the Democratic Party and its nominees.

There is no better campaigner and political organizer than Mr. Gibson, and should he receive this district, there would not be the slightest doubt about his winning in the final election over any and all Republican opposition by a good majority.

THE SQUARE DEAL

Selfishness assumes many forms, and in every one of them may be found the desire to grasp some fancied means of happiness, even at the expense of others. Many things innocently pleasurable in themselves when they come to us in a rightful manner turn into guilty and fraudulent possessions when sought and gained through the losses or pain of others.

Forever Dry.

There is a youngster in college who combines the poetic instinct with a keen sense of humor. He is not a close student. In fact, he regards books as instruments of torture. One of the professors picked up a textbook belonging to him the other day and found on the flyleaf this bit of verse, which no doubt expressed the student's opinion of it: Should there be another flood For refuge hither fly, And should the whole world be submerged This book would still be dry. —Philadelphia Record.

HOGWALLOW BLASTS

Miss Hostetter Hooks sang several nice selections at the entertainment Thursday evening. She was assisted over the rough places by Raz Barlow on his little fiddle.

While discussing Congress matters the other day, and certain bills that passed the House, Polk Eazley declared that it might be easy to pass the House, but that so far he had never yet seen anything pass the still house.

Cricket Hicks bought a large tin dish-pan this week. It is believed he is trying to join the Tickville Brass Band.

The Wild Onion School Teacher lectured on the United States to a large audience a few nights ago. In the course of his remarks he paid a glowing tribute to our country and said it is a pity that everybody in the United States was not there to hear him. One reason we keep so far ahead of other nations, said he, is because we are getting up and going to work every morning while folks around on the other side are just going to bed.

When a husky person has something the matter with him he complains about twice as much as a weak one. But he ought to. He is more able to do so.

The widow of the Calf Ribs neighborhood was at church Sunday, and while she paid no attention to Raz Barlow, or any of the other good chances, she was seen to stick her feet under the bench when Yam Sims passed by.

Another magic lantern show played an engagement at the Wild Onion School House last Saturday night. Among the views was a picture of Niagara Falls standing still.

Dock Hooks, our thriving tinsorial artist, is doing a lucrative business now since he announced that he would set aside Saturdays for the work. If business continues to increase he will have to enlarge his barber chair.

Yam Sims went to Rye Straw the first of the week and arrived home wearing a mule collar.

Miss Hostetter Hooks has returned from the Calf Ribs section, where she has been getting new ideas in millinery, a lady over there having bought a new hat the other day.

IF HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS, "CASCARETS"

To-night! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Will Attend International Convention

Howard J. Brazelton, pastor of the Christian Church will leave Tuesday to attend the great International Convention of Christian Churches at Atlanta Ga. He goes at the expense of the Christian Board of Publication, of St. Louis Mo., for whom he secured a number of subscriptions. He joins a special train here that will be run out of St. Louis, carrying delegates from many Eastern cities. Stopping at Nashville five hours the party will be given a banquet by the citizens of the city after which they will proceed to Atlanta, arriving there Wednesday morning. There will be from five to eight thousand delegates in attendance and Atlanta has made every preparation for entertaining the Convention.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

SAN FRANCISCO

To be Given the Most Popular Teacher in Hopkins County

WHO WILL BE THE LUCKY TEACHER TO WIN THIS WONDERFUL VACATION NEXT YEAR?

The Bee has completed arrangements to send the most popular teacher on a four weeks' trip to the two big expositions in California next year, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Diego. The Bee realizes that a trip of this kind will benefit our teachers greatly because 1915 will be a historic year, a red letter year not only in American History, but in the history of the world. An event of a lifetime—1915—marks the completion of the greatest achievement of man in the history of the world—the Panama Canal. The completion of this achievement will be celebrated in San Francisco by the greatest exposition the world has ever seen: The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, in which the countries of the world will participate on an unprecedented scale.

The free trip offered will be educational and instructive as well as entertaining. The routes traversed to the Expositions and return will be through the "Fairyland of the West"—a magnificent trip by rail across the continent, through scenic New Mexico and Arizona where are found Indian pueblos, petrified forests, snow-capped mountain peaks and titanic chasms. The Grand Canyon of Arizona is the world's most sublime scenic wonder, miles wide, a mile deep and painted in all the colors of the rainbow; the old missions in California, with their san daled priests and Spanish customs; the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego; Los Angeles with its many attractive sights and Orange Groves; then the great San Joaquin Valley to San Francisco and the Exposition.

On the way back via Nevada, the Great Salt Lake and the Land of Mormons, Pike's Peak, and the mountains of picturesque Colorado with their awe-inspiring grandure. The trip of a lifetime. From an educational standpoint, the trip is truly a wonderful one.

THE PLAN

Here is the plan the Bee has prepared for sending the most popular teacher on this four weeks' vacation. Beginning in this issue the Bee will publish nomination coupons for our readers to use in nominating their favorite teachers. Cut out these coupons, fill in with the name of the teacher you would like to have sent on this big trip. The nominations will be held open for three weeks. The names of the nominees will be published each week.

Each subscriber to the Special Clubbing Combination Offer will be entitled to Mileage Stamps. Each stamp represents one mile of the journey to San Francisco. Ten Mileage Stamps will be given with each subscription, these in turn can be given to your favorite teacher, who will be provided with an International Mileage Book and the teacher who succeeds in getting the largest number of the Mileage Stamps in her book by the close of the contest will be awarded the Free Trip to the Exposition.

To make it easy to get enough mileage stamps to win this great vacation trip, the Bee has arranged with four of the best and most widely read magazines, Woman's World, Household, People's Popular Monthly and Farm Life. We will offer a year's subscription to all four magazines, together with one year to the Bee, at the special price of $1.25 for all five. Each order entitles the subscribers to ten Mileage Stamps.

Send the name of the teacher you have picked out to go on this vacation, then help her to earn the trip by having your friends subscribe for this big bargain and get as many Mileage Stamps as possible. Scholars, get busy and secure new subscribers for this remarkable combination clubbing offer. Help send your teacher to the Exposition.

RULES OF CONTEST

Any school teacher in Hopkins county can be nominated. Each issue will contain nomination blanks. Fill in the name of your favorite and mail or leave the nomination blank at our office. Every subscription to the Special Combination Clubbing offer will entitle the subscriber to Ten Mileage Stamps to give to his favorite teacher. Mileage will be given for combination orders only; no mileage will be allowed for a separate subscription for any one of the five publications in the combination. Subscription blanks will be furnished to the contestants and their friends at this office.

There are no restrictions as to territory in securing combination orders and mileage. The date of the close of the contest will be announced later. Ample time will be given, as the Exposition does not open until February, 1915.

The teacher having the greatest number of stamps in her mileage book will be declared the winner. For any additional information address, Free Trip Exposition Bureau, c/o Earlington, Ky.

Nominate your favorite teacher on this blank, then mail or leave at Bee Office.

Peru's Quicksilver Mine.
There is a quicksilver mine in Peru 480 feet deep. In this abyss are streets, squares and a chapel.

How Amber is Obtained.

Almost all the amber comes from the coast of the Baltic sea. Amber is a fossil resin. After a storm large quantities of it are washed up, and the fishermen go out with dragnets and haul it up. All finds must be delivered to the Prussian government, which has a monopoly of the industry. It owns a large mine at Palmnicken, where hundreds of miners are employed in digging it out of a stratum of blue earth. It is turned in lathes and carved principally by women, and all the debris is used in making varnish.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaints. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Same Thing.

Mrs. Wabash—So they have drifted apart? Mrs. Dearborn—Well, I don't know as you could call it drifting exactly. But hereafter they've decided to paddle their own canoes.—Yonkers Statesman.

Mistaken.

"He says he's your friend for life; says you lent him $50."
"So I did. But he's not my friend for life. I propose to ask him for it next pay day."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"I advised the 'boys' when they enlisted for the Spanish war to take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them, and have received many thanks for the advice given," writes J. H. Houghland, Eldon, Iowa. "No person whether traveling or at home should be without this great remedy." For sale by all dealers.

His Specialty.

Heck—Do you play any instrument? Peck (sadly)—Yes; second fiddle at home.

Juvenile Reasoning.

It was a very youthful class in physiology.
"Why," asked the teacher, "is it best to eat soup first when one is very hungry?"
The pupils stared at her blankly. Then Jamie called out from the depths of the audience.
"You eat it faster," he announced. —Denbator.
